Concealed hinge side TITAN axxent 24⁺.

Fully concealed hardware is now in vogue and generously dimensioned window surfaces have become an absolute must. Glass facades and windows with narrow face widths have become a standard feature of modern architecture, with its tendency towards straight lines and simplicity of form.

Sophisticated design, high-strength materials, a select combination of materials and the latest assembly technology make our new TITAN axxent 24⁺ so simple, robust, wear-resistant and functionally reliable like no other comparable hinge side ever before. In other words: forget about any preconceptions you may have about concealed hardware!
